Mount Pleasant, South Carolina – EcoSteris today confirmed that March 1st, 2023 will be the start date of their state-of-the-art operation in their Summerville facility located at 112 Fabricators Street.

The first facility of its kind, nationwide, to provide environmental and healthcare integrated waste treatment and disposal solutions using clean sustainable technology that meets strict national and international safety standards and regulations. EcoSteris understands that regulated medical waste management is not only an issue of cost and convenience, but it is also a subject of liability, public relation, social responsibility, and environmental sustainability. This is why EcoSteris is committed to providing advanced, comprehensive, and integrated medical waste solutions that are designed to help healthcare providers, medical waste generators, and service partners establish safe, sustainable, reliable, and affordable waste management and disposal operations that protect our public, preserve our planet, and reconcile economic and social needs.

EcoSteris offers reliable and affordable off-site medical waste management services for small and large waste quantity generators throughout the state of South Carolina. Their service plans include:

- Medical waste removal and disposal services
- Sharps disposal management and services
- OSHA & HIPAA Compliance Training
- Medical supplies and packaging
- Consulting services
- Professional and financial services: investment assessments and cost analysis
- Permitting and compliance

In recent interview with Youmna Squalli, the president and owner of EcoSteris, states, “Apart from jobs creation that the business is expected to bring to the community, EcoSteris is committed to deliver essential sustainable services that protect the public from harmful waste. Our operation does not involve the use of chemicals or burning of the waste; we follow a clean and environmentally friendly approach. Our tagline line is: “Sustainability is our passion”, which we take to heart, hence why we increased our investment and went an extra step further with our double shredding process post steam sterilization. While the regulations in the state of South Carolina does not require the waste to be shredded, at EcoSteris, our treated waste will go through a double shredding process. This will not only reduce the volume of the waste by more than 85% but it will also allow us to have unrecognizable waste that is safe to be recycled or disposed of. This process is going to have a huge positive impact on the landfills of our community from a safety and environmentally perspective and for all our taxpayers.”

One of EcoSteris’ main missions is to educate the community in general and the healthcare community in particular about the importance of safe disposal of medical waste and its impact. Their clients will have access to resources and tools to ensure compliance and to keep employees and patients safe.
